

AN AUSPICIOUS OPENING.

The Great Exhibition at Boston Successfully Opened.

Distinguished Representatives from All Parts of the World in Attendance.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 3.—The opening of the foreign exhibition took place at noon today in the building of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics' association, on Huntington avenue. The doors were opened some time before the formal opening, and at noon a crowd of 1,000 or more filled the floor and galleries of that end of the building where the exercises took place. There were many persons of foreign nationality present, beside numerous members of the state and city governments. At 12:30 the president of the executive committee, Nathaniel J. Bradlee, occupied upon the platform Rev. E. A. Horton, of the Second church, who was to offer the opening prayer. The music was furnished by the Victoria Rifles band. Some fifty prominent persons followed Mr. Bradlee upon the platform. Among them were Secretary of the Navy Chandler, Lieut. Gov. Ames, Hon. Geo. B. Loring, C. F. Adams, Jr., W. W. Rice, Mayor Palmer, Ex-Gov. Rice, and W. H. Pierce, Secretary of State Marshall P. Wilder. Mayor Palmer and the time and place of the exhibition were peculiarly appropriate. On the three hills of Boston the industrial arts had found a nursery and a home. Boston had many things unique, and this festival of industry and art was not the least of them. The exhibition was the kindergarten of nations—the academy of arts and labor. The crowned heads of Europe were present, for labor, industry, and art—these were the crowned heads of the nineteenth century.

Marshall P. Wilder, the oldest merchant in active business in Boston, spoke briefly. Jobe Davall, vice president of the Paris municipal council, spoke in French, E. L. Hays, the commissioner from Germany, in his native language, and Manager Capel made an eloquent address in English, in which he alluded to the fraternal spirit spreading among the nations of the country and the faith which the represented. He was heartily applauded.

Mr. Hoolgaer, commissioner from Japan; Leo Wen Shih, from China, and M. Labarrie, of Panama, spoke in their native tongues, acknowledging their obligations to Boston for the invitation to participate in the exhibition.

M. Canbert, of Paris; Mr. Katzman, from Austria, and Mr. Carter, Hawaiian commissioner, spoke in the same vein. After prayer by Rev. Horton, Hon. Nathaniel J. Bradlee began the speech making, alluding to the signing of the treaty of peace which had been achieved in the past 100 years, sketched the history for the negotiations for peace and read the tributes paid our commissioners by statesmen and historians.

Charles Francis Adams, Jr., called attention to the fact that the third of September was the anniversary of the battles of Dunbar and Worcester, and of Cromwell's death. In opening this exhibition on this date it is this blessed condition of peace that we commemorate for the United States.

Hon. W. E. Chandler responded, congratulating the foreign visitors that they had come to a city so enterprising and hospitable as Boston, and welcoming them to America on behalf of the government of the United States.

Lieut. Gov. Ames spoke briefly for the commonwealth. Ex-Gov. Rice said he was called upon to do two impossible things—to speak in place of one of the most illustrious of the nation's statesmen—Robert C. Winthrop—and to extend to the people from all parts the hearty welcome which Massachusetts gave them. Commerce and art were the agents of civilization and of human brotherhood.

The speaker's words were often applauded. The audience had doubled before the exercises ended. A hundred guns were fired in commemoration of the event. The exhibition was in a much more advanced state to-day than was anticipated on Saturday. Although there was considerable vacant floor space the exhibits already set up seemed to be in most cases complete, and gave to the floor and galleries a bright and attractive appearance. The exhibits in the west end, where the opening exercises took place, were in better shape than in other portions of the building. They were arranged by nations, national colors being prettily displayed in front of each country's exhibit. Brazil, Japan, Spain, Portugal, Austria, France, Holland, Holland, Sweden, Norway, Belgium, Denmark, Russia, Persia, Turkey, China, Cuba, Tunis and Hawaii were the countries represented in the west hall. The display consisted largely of fabrics, especially carpets, porcelain and pottery. Some very fine Japanese pottery is shown from the works in Tokio and Arita.

Between the two halls is the art gallery, which contains very good, though not very many, pictures. Among them is one painted by the French artist, Theodore Gericault, titled "The Execution by Decapitation," and a few fine pieces of statuary. In the east hall are the exhibits of China, England, France, Germany, Colombia, Canada, and the East Indies.

Question of Railway Inspection. Acting Secretary Joslyn has been called upon to decide the question whether a commission appointed to examine and report upon one section of a land grant railway, can, without the issuance of a further commission, inspect another and an additional section. A commission was appointed to inspect a twenty mile section of the Oregon and California railway line, made an inspection of an additional twenty mile section at the request of the company, but without being commissioned to do so, and has made a report on both sections to the Interior department. The question for the acting secretary to decide was whether the additional report should be accepted. He has declined to accept it, at least for the present. He says he can find a precedent especially as there is no necessity for immediate action, and the President and secretary of the Interior will be in Washington in a few days.

An Insolvent's Rights. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 3.—The long pending matter of the alleged fraudulent insolvency of Stephen S. Price was before Judge Biddle this morning upon a motion to admit the defendant to bail previous to his trial in the quarter sessions upon the charge of embezzlement. Counsel for the prosecution urged that the act required that the defendant under such circumstances should be committed to prison, but the judge accepted the interpretation of the counsel for the defense, that the defendant should be committed and then admitted to bail. The amount of the bail was fixed at $5,000.

The Storm Off the Grand Banks. GLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 3.—Vessels arriving from the Grand Banks report the storm as very severe. It commenced on Wednesday at sunrise, continuing to blow nine hours from the southeast when it changed to northwest, making tremendously heavy seas. The schooner Matthew M. Murray lost her main sail; the Alice M. Staples ran nine hours under bare poles during the heaviest of the gale; the schooner Augusta H. Johnson, T. L. Mayo, and Welcome had their mainwales stove and lost their dories, and nearly all the other vessels report more or less damage. Great anxiety is felt for the safety of the bank fleet, and it is feared that the vessels which were passed bottom up on George's bank belonged here.

Foul Murder of a Young Woman. BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 3.—Rose Clark, aged about 25, daughter of Nathan W. Clark, of Stratford, was found dead this morning near her father's residence, some two miles north of Stratford depot. Finger marks on her throat indicated that she had been choked to death. She was to have been married about two weeks hence to William Loomis, of Stratford, and was accustomed to visit his house,

THE NEW POSTAL NOTES.

Activity at the City Postoffice on the First Day of Their Issue.

The first postal notes under the new law were issued yesterday, and Mr. Merrill, chief of the money order department of the city postoffice, spent much time, punching the notes, each of which have to be punched five times. A total of sixty-eight of these notes were issued up to the close of official hours, and there was a considerable rush of purchasers to secure the lower number series. The first note issued was secured by Dr. McDonald, chief of the money order division, for the postmaster general, and the doctor took the second note for himself. Many of the notes were for only one cent, and they were taken by persons who simply wanted to possess copies of them. A party named Joachim Spill, of Pleasantville, Iowa, wrote to the department, enclosing 13 cents paid between two people leaves with a request that the doctor should make out for fifteen cents and sent to him. As the lower numbers had been previously taken note No. 13 was sent to Mr. Spill. A large number of notes issued here were drawn upon the Washington and New York notes. It is thought that the presentation of notes for payment will begin to-day.

ANOTHER SUICIDE.

An Ex-Government Clerk Proves Himself in the Alexandria Canal.

About 9 o'clock yesterday morning the body of a white man was found in the Alexandria canal, at the Virginia end of the aqueduct, which had been in the water but a short time. It was taken in charge by the Virginia authorities, and Judge Whalen having summoned a jury of inquest, it was elicited that the body was that of Charles Vortongren, a citizen of Washington and until recently a clerk in the adjutant general's office, from which he was discharged about three months ago on account of his irregular habits. He has been dissipating heavily lately, and remarked recently to his friends that he intended to put an end to his life. He had one child, a married daughter. The remains were interred in Birch's burying ground, between the canal and river, near Arlington.

THE ELKS EXCURSION.

Washington lodge of Elks and their friends enjoyed a royal time down the river last night on the steamer Corcoran. The party was a large and merry one and good cheer ran riot. As pleasure caterers the Elks were voted a decided success.

ALEXANDRIA AFFAIRS.

Mr. W. H. Walker, son of Mr. T. H. Walker, a large brick manufacturer in this county, has been recommended as inspector of customs at this port. The selection of Mr. E. Messer, Frank Gleason, master, entered this port yesterday with a cargo of lump plaster from Windsor, N. S., consigned to Wm. A. Smoot & Co. The funeral of Edmund Lawler, who died on Friday last, took place yesterday from the Catholic church of St. John, at 10 o'clock. The Catholic Benevolent society, of which he was a member.

On Sunday afternoon Charles Belone, W. N. Anderson, Samuel Edlone, William Johnson, George W. Lohr, of Washington, and Dan and James Patterson, of this city, indulged in a free fight on the street, and were arrested and locked up. The parties from Washington each left $5 as collateral to appear yesterday morning, but failed to do so, and the collision was forfeited. James and Dan Patterson were each fined $10 and required to give bond in the sum of $250 to keep the peace for twelve months. Three Alexandrians were fined $5 for interfering and the father of one $10 for contempt of court. Alpha and Lambda were also fined $5 for fighting and discharged. Yesterday afternoon he committed an assault upon Mayor Beckham and was locked up. He was then tried before three magistrates and found guilty, but the mayor said that no fine be imposed and he was discharged.

Engine No. 23, of the Virginia Midland, which was rebuilt at the company's shops in this city, was turned out yesterday. Mr. George W. Lohr, secretary of the state school board, is in the city. There was a game of base ball here yesterday between the Bashfuls of Washington, and the Alexandrians. The following is the score: Alexandrians, 7; Bashfuls, 5. The Alexandrians can raise the broom now. There will be a game here to-day between the Waverlys and the Alexandrians.

At the grain market there is no change to note in flour. Wheat is active and firm with an improved tone; the receipts yesterday on change were light in consequence of the heavy run of fat cattle on Saturday; only 3,120 bushels were offered and sold at $1.10 to $1.12 for fair; 113 for mixed and $1.13 to $1.14 for good; longdolls; no prime was sold; raskings, longdolls, and common from $1.10 to $1.15, as to condition. Corn is steady and strong; 1,000 bushels of white brought 60 cents, and 150 bushels of yellow 62 cents. No rye or oats were offered, and they are scarce and of poor quality. Produce unchanged and firm.

STEAMBOAT DISASTERS.

Circular as to New Rules Issued Yesterday by Acting Secretary New.

The following circular, which embodies the recommendations of the supervising inspector general of steam vessels, to which emphasis has been given by the recent explosion of the steamer Riverdale, was issued yesterday to supervising inspectors of steam vessels. TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY, WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 3, 1883. TO UNITED STATES SUPERVISING INSPECTORS OF STEAM VESSELS: Gentlemen: In view of the great number of complaints of the improper use of local inspectors in investigating disasters to the hulls and boilers of steam vessels after certification by themselves that such hulls or boilers are safe, you are hereby notified that whenever accidents occur to steam vessels through alleged defects to either hull or boiler, to conduct an investigation of the same, you are to be authorized by section 4409, Revised Statutes of the United States, as follows: "Each supervising inspector shall have full power to examine in any district where from distance or other cause it is impracticable to resort to the local board to inspect any steam vessel, and the boilers of such steamer, and to grant certificates of approval, and to perform all the duties imposed upon local boards."

Section 4407, Revised Statutes, requires that "if the supervising inspector has good reason to believe that there has been negligence or other cause, a failure of the board which inspected the vessel to do its duty he shall report the facts in writing to the secretary of the treasury." The question of supervising inspectors assuming jurisdiction in investigating the condition of licensed officers of steam vessels, and revoking and suspending licenses of such officers, independent of the provisions of section 4409, Revised Statutes, were submitted to the solicitor of the treasury by the supervising inspector general of steam vessels. After consideration on Aug. 27 following the solicitor rendered an opinion in writing (copy inclosed) affirming the proposition. You will be governed by the terms of this circular letter in the case of accidents to steamers and other vessels, and in cases where such accidents are to be investigated within the jurisdiction of the local board of inspectors who inspect any steam vessel, and the boilers of such steamer, and to grant certificates of approval, and to perform all the duties imposed upon local boards."

That Mysterious Shot. Maurice Murray, one of whose horses was shot dead while pulling a hack Saturday night, yesterday swore out a warrant against a man named Betts, charging him with the deed. It is thought that the shot was intended for a man named Charley Jones, who was standing at the opposite side of the street. Jones was recently a driver on the Belt line street car company, and refused to strike when the other man did.

WEST WASHINGTON.

Condition of the Potomac river water, Monday, Sept. 3.—At all points, 36. About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon as Mr. S. T. Hawk, superintendent of the repair shop of the Washington and Georgetown railway, was sitting a shaft he fell from the table on which he was standing, striking his back on a trestle, breaking a rib and sustaining other internal injuries. He was attended by Dr. Kleinschmidt.

At the 104th meeting of the Tenth Building association, held at Goddard's hall last night, seventeen shares, amounting to $2,870, were withdrawn at stock value rate of $185.36 per share. The crews in practice for the Potomac river regatta did nearly all the rowing yesterday afternoon. With the exception of the Carroll institute barge, twelve pleasure boats from Johnson & Baker's, and some few others, pleasure parties were scarce. The Annapolis went out with their two four-oared shell crews and two single scullers. The Potomac had out an eight and three fours, and the Columbias were represented by their eights and three fours.
